

CITY OF LAWDALE HOUSING ELEMENT UPDATE 2008

The City of Lawndale wants to hear your opinion about housing!

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING TO DISCUSS THE GENERAL PLAN HOUSING ELEMENT

The City of Lawndale is in the process of updating the General Plan Housing Element. As part of this effort, the Community Development Department is inviting the public to a study session with the Planning Commission. If you are concerned about the cost of housing or where your children might be living in the future then you are encouraged to attend this meeting.

Housing Element Study Session: September 26, 2007 at 6:30 p.m.
Council Chambers, City Hall
14717 Burin Ave., Lawndale, CA

The purpose of this study session will be to:

- Provide information on the Housing Element update process
- Review State law requirements and key issues of focus for the update
- Answer questions about the Housing Element update; and
- Solicit input about key issues of concern and focus for the Housing Element.

A separate invitation will also be sent directly to various organizations and service providers involved in providing housing or housing support services in Lawndale and Los Angeles County.

If you would like to review the City's current Housing Element 2000-2005, it is available in the Community Development Department offices located at 14717 Burin Avenue, Lawndale, California, Monday through Thursday, 7:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

If you have any questions about this information, please contact Perry Banner, Associate Planner, Community Development Department at (310) 973-3206 or via e-mail at pbanner@lawndalecity.org.